has retired from business with $25,000,000 made in 17 years, took charge of the threshing at his farm at Gray's Lake, Ill., the other day.

At five p. m. the man whose financial career would have been meteoric had it not been for his quiet way of doing things was out in the fields supervising the work that the 20 men who came an hour later were to ac-complish before sundown. Wearing overalls and wide-brimmed straw hat, as if he were accustomed to them Mr. Sears surveyed his model farm as life. He refused to turn from it and

A New One About Napoleon.

A "new" story about Napoleon is necessarily doubtful; the probability is that it is simply so old that it has been forgotten. However, here is one that Arthur M. Chuquet prints in L'Opinion as never before published. It relatesto Napoleon and Blucher.

The emperor received the general at the castle of Finkenstein, while he was preparing for the siege of Danzig He drew him to a window in an uppe story and paid him compliments or his military gifts, and Blucher, going away delighted, described the interview to his aide-de-camp. "What a chance you missed!" latter.

"You might have changed the whole course of history."
"How?"

"Why, you might have thrown him out of the window."
"Confound it!" replied Blucher. "So might! If only I had thought of it.'
